

Fire Training

CERTIFIED STAFF FIRE TRAINING COURSES

Under current legislation laid out in the Fire Services Act 1981 and Safety in Industry Acts 1955 and 1980, all persons employed to work in a premises should be given genuine and adequate instruction and training in the procedure to adopt in the event of a fire. All employees should receive suitable staff fire training from a qualified and competent person or company, this enables a candidate to recognise and eliminate fire hazards, understand safe evacuation from buildings and if necessary prevent a fire from spreading. At Capital Fire Ltd, we provide our clients with a choice of two comprehensive staff fire training courses, both include a live physical demonstration, for hands on experience and certified exam. Both courses must be conducted at the clients premises in order for our fire safety trainers to undertake a full premises assessment specific to our clients place of work and to evaluate and inform our clients of the fire risks that may be present. All our fire safety trainers are certified and are members of the FAS register of trainers. For insurance purposes and recommendations from FAS we are only in a position to offer our training courses for up to a maximum of fourteen people per training session. At Capital Fire Ltd we carry public liability insurance for staff fire training, a copy of which can be provided upon request. We shall provide all materials for the training sessions including hand outs, fire extinguishers for demonstration, gas controlled fire apparatus for simulation of different fires, over head projector, laptop presentation or video presentation and examination papers. We will issue certificates upon successful completion of each fire training course.

Fire Warden - Half Day Staff Fire Training Course

Max Fourteen people

Duration 2-3 hours

This includes:

- Introduction
- Aims and objectives of fire warden training course
- Employers responsibility & current legislation, including workplace regulations
- Fire safety in the home
- Fire safety in the workplace
- Understanding fire - Theory, the spread of fire & fire triangle
- Action in the event of a fire Raising the alarm

- Evacuation procedures

- Contacting the fire services
- Presentations - Either overhead projection with laptop or video presentation
- Fire extinguishers - Different types, siting and suitability
- Class of fires - Understanding different types of classes of fire
- Understanding the suitability of different fire extinguishers on each type of fire
- Questions & answers session
- Summary
- Fire warden staff fire training examination
- Live physical demonstration - candidates get use real fire extinguishers to put out real fires
- Close

Please contact us for more information

Fire Marshal - Full Day Staff Fire Training Course

Max Fourteen people

Duration 5-6 hours

This includes:

- Introduction - Aims and objectives of fire warden training course
- Employers responsibility & current legislation, including workplace regulations
- Fire safety in the home
- Fire safety in the workplace - Responsibility of fire marshals & delegating duties to fire wardens
- Understanding fire - Theory, the spread of fire & fire triangle
- Action in the event of a fire - Responsibility to raise alarm, delegating fire wardens to assemble staff

- Evacuation procedures, including role call at fire assembly points
- Contacting the fire services
- Presentations - Overhead projection with laptop & video presentation
- Break for lunch
- Fire extinguishers - Different types, siting and suitability
- Class of fires - Understanding different types of classes of fire
- Understanding the suitability of different fire extinguishers on each type of fire
- Questions & answers session
- Summary
- Fire Marshal staff fire training examination
- Live physical demonstration - candidates get use real fire extinguishers and control real fires
- Close

Please note:

A fire drill and fire evacuation procedure will take place as part of the fire training courses

Please contact us for more information